Abstract

This invention relates to a method of normalizing sexual response in a subject, comprising administering to a subject in need thereof an anti-hypertensive therapy and a centrally-acting dopaminergic agonist. The subject may be a human male or female. In a preferred embodiment, the anti-hypertensive therapy is an ACE inhibitor such as enalapril, and the centrally-acting dopaminergic agonist is apomorphine or a pharmaceutically acceptable salt or ester thereof.